THE KNIFE AND TOMA. ai h K AN UNPUBLISHED INCODENT IN THE LIFE OF

UAPT, SAMUEL BRADY, BY A WESTERN MAN.

About thirty miles below the present city of Pittsburg, stood an ancient fort, known as Fort Mointosh. It was built by a revas Fort Mcintosh. It was built by a revolutionary general of that name, in the summer of 1778. It was one of a line of forts, which was intended to guard the people who lived south of the Obfo river, from the incursions of the savages to the northward.—This rort was one of the favorite resorts of the great Indian spy and hunter, Captain Samuel Brady. Although his usual head quarters was Pittsburg, then consisting of a rude fort and score or two of rough frontier tenements.

er tenements, Brady had emigrated westward, or rather had marched thither in 1778, as a lieutenant in the distinguished Eighth Peni sv va-nia Regiment, under the comm nd of General Eroadhead, of Easton. Wh n, in the spring of 1770, Meintash retired from command in the West, Broadhead sacceeded ham, and remained at Pittsburg until 1761. Shortly after his advent to the west, Brady was brevetted Captain.

Brudy had served at the seige of Boston fought at Long Island and White Plams, gone through the whole of the terrible campaign of Trenton and Princeton, suffered at Valley Forge, distinguished himself at Germantown and Brandywine, and narrowly escaped death at Paoli. But his tastes led him to the erratic mode of wariare know upon the frontier. Indeed, his early educa-tion upon the upper Susqehanna had inculcated and developed those tastes from the very earliest boyhood. Haring an indian with that instinctive hatred, which is begotten in the bosom of the white race, by long years of contest and outrage, a bitter inten-sity was imparted to the felling in his case by the murder of his father and younger bother by the Indians, under trying and terrible circumstances.

Having premised this very much by way of introduction, it brings us to the opening or our story. On the 21st day of August, 1779, Brady set out from Fort Meln for l'itsburg. He had with him two of his trusty and well-tried tollowers. These were not attached to the regular army, as he was, but were scouts and spies, who had been with him upon many an expedition. They were Thomas Bevington and Benjamin Biggs Brady resolved to tollow the northern bank of the Ohio. Biggs objected to this, upon the ground, as Brady well knew, that the woods were swarming with sagaves. Brady however, had resolved to travel by the old Indian path, and having once made up his mind, no consideration could deter him from earrying out his determination. Beyington had such implicit faint in his ability to lead, that he never thought of questioning his will. Quite a discussion arose between Biggs and im captain at the mouth of Beaver river, shout a mile above the fort, and where they must cross the Ohio, if they continued upon the northern side. Biggs finally yielded his objections, and they crossed Beaver, and proceeded with the habitual caution woodman who fully understand their busi ress. They find started early, and by rapid travelling they had reached, ere moon came, the last piece of bottom land on the north side of the river, just below what is known as the Narrows. Upon this bottom had built a cabin, and opened a small spot of cleared land. He had planted it incorn, and it gave promise of a most abundant har-

But, as they approached the edge of the clearing, just outside of the fence, Brady discovered "Indian signs," as he called them. His companions discovered them almost as quick as he, and at once, in low tones, com municated to each other the necessity for a keen watch. They slowly trailed along the side of the fence toward the house, whose situation they well knew, until they stood upon the brow of the bluff bank which overlooked it. A sight of the most terrible description met their eyes. The cabin lay a dull blue smoke arose in the clear August sunshine. They observed closely every thing about it. Brady knew it was customary for the Indians after they had fired a settler's cabin, if there was no immediate danger, to refire to the woods close at hand, and watch the approach of any member of the family who might chance be absent when they made the decent. Not knowing but that they were even then lying close by, he left Bevington to watch the ruins, lying under cover, whilst he proceeded to the northward, and Diggs southward, to make discoveries. Both were to return to Bevington, if they found no Indians. If they were too numerous to be attacked regularly, Brady declared it to be his purregularly, Brand declared it to be his pur-pose to have one fire at them, and that should be a signal for both of his followers to make the best of their way to the fort. All this rapidly transpired, and with Brade to decide was to act. As he stole can tiously around to the northern side of inclosure, he heard a voice in the distance singing. He listened keenly, and soon discovered from its intonations, that it was He listened keenly, and soon diswhite man's. He passed rapidly in the diwhite man's. He passed rapidly in the direction whence the sound came. As it approached, he concealed himself hebitul the trink of a large tree. Prisently a white man, riding a fine horse, came slowly down the path. The form was that of Albert Gray, the stalwart, brave, devil-may-care settler, who had built him a home miles away from the fort, where no one would dare to take a family, except himself.

Brady wore, as he almost always did, the Indian garb, and had war paint upon his face. He knew that if he showed himself upon the path, Gray would shoot, taking him to be an Indian. He therefore suffered Gray quietly to approach his landing place. When the time came, he spang for-ward ere the settler could have time to prepare, drew his tomathawk, and seizing him dragged him from his horse. As he did so, he whispered to him: "I am Capt-ain Brady, for God sake be quiet."

The Daily Rews

NEWPORT. 144 Thames Street

MONDAY MORN'G, Feb. 2, 1857.

E. TOURJEE, ESQ., is hereby authorized to transact for us any business connected with the News and Journal office, of this city.

With the editor of the Mercury, of this city, we have not the pleasure of a personal acquaintance; we are happy, however, to make it in any way. And, as he has seen fit to respond to a little critique of ours upon his Railroad estimate, we ought, at least to thank him for his condescension.

As to the reasoning by which he endea vors to support the statement called in question, it has, at least the semblance of fairness, and, making all necessary allowance for exagerated reckoning from a desire to be found in the right, is worthy to be put on file with other railroad documents It does really throw a little light on the subject, but not enough to ecavince us that the railroad between this place and Fall River could not be built for much less than a million of dollars.

The very fatherly manner in which the Mercury endeavors to "put us right" in regard to Mr. Brown, is duly appreciated. 1 shows him to have been in quite a strait for something to write; for the correction was made in the News sometime before the Mercury went to press. True, the whole senience was not reconstructed, but enough was said to have enlightened a person of or dinary intelligence, and to have silenced one of but a moderate share of magnatimity.-Had our acquaintance with the gentleman commenced at an earlier date, we might, for his sake, have been a little more explicit.

For our part, we had as lief be the author of the error in question, as to show ourself incapable of quoting correctly from an article right before our eyes. We are made, by his mutilation, to say we "know not from what source the inference is drawn," when we said no such thing.

A quarry of "Bronze Marble" has been discovered in Vermont, exceeding in beauty any of the sombre colored marbles we have ever seen. It has but few veins, and is admirably adapted to the sculptors use, particularly for the production of medallion ornaments. Vermont is particularly rich in marbles, the Verd-antique pedestal of the Franklin statue in Boston, is from a Vermont quarry, and is the handsomest sample we have ever seen, but this last discovery is the most important, if we consider the great variety of uses to which it can be applied and its period adaptation to the requirements of art.

It is generally known that Bishop Asbury was never married. And as it will give the reader an idea of his thoughts on this subject, together with the reasons for his celibracy, here insert them, as we found them in his Journal, vol. 3, p. 128:

" If I should die in celibacy, which I think quite probable, I give the following reasons for what can searcely be called my choice.— I was called in my fourteenth year; I began my public exercises between sixteen and seventeen; at twenty-one, I travelled; at twenty-six I came to America; thus far I had reasons enough for a single life. It had been my intention of returning to Europe at thirty years of age, but the war continued, and it was ten years before we had had a settled, lasting peace; this was no time to marry or be given in marriage.

At forty-nine I was ordained superintendent Bishop in America. Among the duties imposed upon me by my office was that of travelling extensively, and I could hardly expect to find a woman with grace enough to enable her to live but one week out of the fifty-two with her husband; besides, what right has any man to take advantage of the affections of a woman make her his wife, and by a voluntary absence subvert the whole order and economy of the marriage state, by separating those whom neither God, nature, nor the requirements of civil society permit long to be put as under it is neither justice nor generosity. I may add to this that I had little money, and with this little administered to the necessi-ties of a heloved mother, until I was futyseven. If I have done wrong, I hope God and the sex will forgive me. It is my duty now to bestow the pittance I may have to spare upon widows and fatherless girls, and poor married men."

The adjourned session of the Court of Common Pleas which was to have commenced in this city on the 2d of February, has been postponed to the 17th inst.

We are desired to say that the meetings of the Musical Institute of this city, for the present week, will be held on Monday. Wednesday and Friday evenings, at the State House; doors open at 7 o'clock.

The "New Orleans Bulletin," suggests the true way of protecting the South, against the aggressions of the "North". In making its suggestions that paper betrays a better knowledge of the causes of the superior physical and moral condition of the "North" than most of its cotemporaries. It however fails to acknowledge the true extent of the difficulty, and mistakes the results for the causes. It advises to be done, what cannot be done with a slave population, but can readily be accomplished without it. The fact that the South has millions of acres of waste land, land for the most part as yet absolutely unoccupied, and as its emigration to the Northern slave States is nearly as great as its natural increase, will not probably be occupied for any useful purpose, for generations, is a fact not to be overlooked in estimating the real progress of the South, toward civilization. The Bulletin says :

"The best way to defend the rights of the South is to make a vigorous and extended assault upon old fields and dilapidated fences. The enemy is sure to enter at every gap, and to lie concealed in every briar-patch and acre of weeds he may dis-cover. To rout him, 'horse, foot, and dragoons,' it is necessary to set the plough and spade going, and then to overwhelm him with mountains of manure! Nothing like manure for the rights of the South, and the expulsion of its enemies. They can't stand

This is excellent advice, and if an industrious, energetic, people, working with their own hands, for their own profit could do it, it would be done, but it is useless to expect a slave population with no interest in the matter to even make a serious attempt in that direction. We fear that the "South' will still think "Commercial Conventions" and "Nashville Resolutions," more potent than plough, or spade, and leave gaps open for the "enemy", as now.

Mr. Editor:-In the Saturday Mercury's reply to Thomas R. Hazard's letter on "Spiritualism," there is one idea of which I do not see the logic. The Editor says he has no wish to be uncharitable to anybody, Christian, Turk, or whatever he may be in his religious opinions, but when a man deliberately asks the Spirits before a respectable audience "who was Jesus Christ?" he can no longer keep his patience. But does the Mercury mean to ignore the fact that that very question is an open question among Christians? I am not advocating the spiritualist theories or methods, but I simply ask, if a man really believes in these spiritual revelations, what is there so neculiarly shocking to a reasonable mind in his asking them a question about which even Candor. Christians differ?

The things which are remembered are few and unimportant, compared with those which are forgotten.

Good News from Dr. Kane.-By a private letter received in Boston this morning dated Havana 14th, intelligence has been received that Dr. Kane's health, had improved, much to the gratification of his friends. His parents had reached Cuba by the Quaker City on the 12thinst., after a very rough passage. Dr. Kane's mother was treated with marked respect on the passage, and was received at Havana with much consideration .- Boston Transcript

Mrs. Kirkland says, a guest at Mount Vernon, who slept in a chamber next to that of General Washington and his wife, heard the latter Caudle him very soundly, The hero and patriot did not utter a word till she had done, when he said, "Now, good sleep to you, my dear."

We are not upt to mistake our vocation in looking out of the way for occasions to exercise great and rure virtues, and stepping ovor the ordinary ones which lie directly in the road before us. When we read we fancy we could be martyrs; when we some to net, we find we cannot bear a provoking word.

LATER FROM HAVANA-MORE DIFFICUL-TY BETWEEN SPAIN AND MEXICO-MUR-DER OF SPANIARDS BY THE MEXICANS. Harana Jan. 13.—[Correspondence of the New York Times.] The Spanish squadron has again been ordered to Vera Craz. The was again been ordered to Vera Cruz. The works lave taken in provisions for a four months cruise. They will not all go to Vera Cruz, but will divide themselves among the towns on the Gulf. The Ysabel Catonen will remain at Vera Cruz.

The Captain General has been induced to take this step at the instance of the several Spanish Consuls in Mexico, who represent the people and authorities to be extremely insenced against the Spaniards. Severa arrocious robberies and murders have been committed in Cuernavaen and Tantapec, by Alvarez soldiers. In one large sugar estate every Spaniard was butchered in cold blood.

The whole diplomatic crops of Mexico, including our own Minister. Mr. Forsyth, has protested against the foul act. Although President Comonfort ordered an investigation of the facts connected with the case, no one believes that offenders will be brought to justice, for the simple reason that the murders were committed by the very men who uphold Comonfort in power.

GAS LIGHTS.—The first gas lights may he said to have discovered themselves. The most remarkable jets were found at a liery at Whitehaven in Cumberland. The miners were at work one day, when a gust of air of powerful odor passed by them, and catching fire at their lamps, blazed up with such brilliancy that the colliers took to their heels in fright. It was soon found, however, that the flame, large as it was, burned quietly and without danger. And the men returned to their work. A curious result then appeared. The flame was en-tirely put out, but immediately re-kindledon the approach of fire, so that the only way to get rid of the gas was to conduct it to the top of the mine. A tube was fixed for this purpose, and the gas being lighter than the air, ascended to the surface. As soon as it appeared there, it burst out once more into a brilliaut flame, and crowds of people came to look at the extraordinary specta-The application of gas to general purposes of illumination was first tried by Mr. Murdock, in Cornwall, in 1792. The first display of gas works was made at Boulton & Watt's Foundary in Birmingham, on the occasion of the rejoicings for peace in Gas lights were first introduced into London at Golden Lane, August 16, 1807. They were used for lighting Pall-mall in 1809, and were generally used throughout London in 1814. They were first used in Dublin in 1815, and the streets were generally lighted in October, 1825. The gas pipes in and about London extend about 1,200 miles.

CHINESE AFFAIRS.—It appears from in-telligence fourteen days later than that al-ready received from Canton, that the fighting had continued up to that date, and that the American force had been co-operating heartily with that under command of Sig Michael Seymour. It will be remembered that High Commississioner Yeh replied to the last demand of the British authorities for an apology, by offering a reward of thirty dollars for the bead of any Englishman, and that the British Admiral there-apon directed the bombardment of the town. The Chinese, in their eagerness to carry out Yeh's command, and to strike terror into the "foreign devils," decapitated some American persons in mistake for Englishmen and stuck their heads upon the city walls. It will hardly occasion wonder that the Americans, who showed every dispostion from the first to strengthen the hands of the British authorities, should have mude com-mon cause with us after this wanton act of barbarity. It was also reported at the time the last accounts left China, that Changhae had been attacked by the Chinese rebels, and that the town had fallen into their hands.— This rumor, if confirmed, would seem to indicate that the insurgents would avail themselves of the opportunity afforded by the present collision to secure an advantage which they hope, with our assistance, to turn to account.—London Shipping Gazette.

SECRET ARMOR WORN BY THE KING OF NAPLES.—In Naples, our friend King Bom-ha (Ferdinand) has recovered from his fright. The panetare made by the hayonet of the assailant—orto give him his proper designation, assassin, Agerlas Milang is cured.— It was not great because it was so small, but would have been greater but for an admirable shirt of mail worn by his Majesty in compliment to the loyalty and affection of his faithful subjects. Milang was a soldier in a rifle regiment, armed of course with a rifle and sabre bayenet. He was a Calabresse, as you know, and entered the army six years since, with the very purpose in which, but for the chain armor just mentioned, he would have succeeded. His motive was revenge for the cruel treatment. his family had received from the Royal troops in the troulles of 1848. He was a man of extraordinary bravery and conrage, well - ulucat al, and of considerable talent, "He died with a courage and indifference quite extra-ordinary," says un official dispatch I have

DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.
Brooklyn, Conn., June 16, 1854.
Friend Davis:—Although a strat ger to you, I take the liberty of addressing a few lines to you, for the purpose of saving a few words in favor of your invaluable medicine. I have used your Pain Killer for a number of years, and for bowel complaint and burns, and in fact for pains of all kinds, I think it pre-eminent.—Before I became acquainted with your medicine, I had a violent attack of dysentery, which reduced me very low, in fact my friends thought I could not survive, but by the treatment of a Botanic Physician, the hest romedy I then knew, I receivered. Since then, I have had several attacks, one very violent, shout four years ago. I was attacked at 3 three o'clock in the morning, and at surgise, I was not able to get off my bed, I sent and got a twenty-five cent bottle of your Pain Killer, which I commonced taking, according to directions, and at six o'clock in the evening my bowels were regular, and I was up and moving about, although somewhat weak. I would recommend to all similarily afflicted, to avail themselves of your invaluable medicine.

I am sir, yours respectfully. DAVIS' PAIN KILLER.

I am sir, yours respectfully, ELMER WILLIAMS. Tains synthesis respectively.

The genunine Perry Davis' Pain Killer is now put-up in paunel bottles, with the words Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer blown in the glass; and with two steel engraved labels on earh bottle—one an excellent likeness of Perry Davis, the original inventor of the nurdicine, the other a steel engraved rote of hand—none others can be relied upon as genuine. Prices of bottles 121-2 cents, 25 cents, 50 cents, and 31 respectively.

A CARD TO THE LADIES,
Dr. Dupoxea's Golden Periodical Pills for Females. Perfectly harmless, yet wonderfulyl and powerfully efflections in correcting, egulating, and removing all obstructions from whatever cause.

All medical men know, as well as many othfrom whatever cause.

All medical men know, as well as many others, that no female can enjoy good health, unless she is regular; and whenever an obstruction takes place, whether from exposure, cold, or any other cause, the general health begins immediately to decline, and the want of such a remedy has been the cause of so many emamptions among young females. Headache, Pain in the Side, Palpitation of the Heart, Loathing of Food, and Disturbed Sleep, do most always arise from the interruption of nature; and whenever that is the case, the Pills will invariably remedy all these crils; and may always be used successfully as a preventive. Price $1.00 per box. For sale by HAZ-ARD & CASWELL 12 Washington Square, and 137 Thames St. They will supply the trade at manufacturer's prices. Ladies, by enclosing $1.00 to STURGIS & CO., Box 24, Newport Post Office, can have the Pills sent (confidentially) by mail to any part of the city or country.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH OF THE Definace, Salamander Safes I I I NEW York, NOV. 4th, 1856.

Mr. ROHT, M. PATHICK, 192 Pearl-st.

DEAN SIR:—The Definace Safe, No. 5,778, purchased from you about eighteen months since, was in my house at Newport, R. L., which, with the furniture, was entirely destroyed by fire on the night of 5th the June last. The Safe, after being exposed to an intense heat for many hours, was recovered on the 10th of June. Not having the necessary tools at hand to open it, the same has stood just as when recovered, until shipped to your address, Nov. 1st. When opened at your store this morning. I was agreeably surprised, as were also others present, to find the contents, consisting of valuable silver plate, &c., in as perfect order as when placed therein. It is with pleasure I add my testimony to the merits of the Safes of your manufacture. Yours, Respectfully, DANIEL PAULSH.

POICKS, No. 4.

Air.—"A Few Days."

Cold Weather's coming soon, we know,
In a few days, a few days;
With ice and hall, rain and snow,
As you are going home.
But that my boys can do no harm,
For a few days, a few days;
Sisson's Clothing's nice and warm,
As you are going home.

CHORUS.

And his sign it hangs up yonder,
For a few days, a few days;
Itis sign it hangs way up yonder,
'As you aregoing home.

Shanghai Coats are all the go, For a few days, a few days; Sisson sells them mighty low, As you are going home.

As you are going home.

His Opera Sacks are quite the rage,
For a few days, a few days;
To fit you, Sisson will engage, As you are going home.

And his sign, &c.

Pants and Vests of every hue, For a few days, a few days; Warm Overcoats and Raglans, too, As you are going home, Talmas, Gloves, life Shawls and all, For a few days, a few days; Made to fit both great and small, As they are going home.

And his sign, &c.

At Six North Main St. is his store,
For a few days, a few days;
The rush each day is more and more,
As you are going home.
It is prices they can not be beat,
For a few days, a few days;
It is Garnents always if complete,
As you are going home.

And his sign, &c.

Then rally, friends, both one and all,
Fire a few days, a few days;
And give this famous Store a call,
As you are going home.
Sisson will you kindly greet,
For a few days, a few days;
The place is Number Srx Main Street,
As you are going home.

As you are going home. And his sign it hangs up yonder, For a few days, a few days; His sign it hangs way up yonder, As you are going home. Fall River, Nov. 27.

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such danagerous cases as this. Some so lamma aid can reach; but even to these the Green's Percorat, affords relief and comfort.

As no House, New York Chr., March 5, 1856. Bocton Aren, Lowelle II, the life a duty and a pleasure in inform you what your Gritake Percorat, has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the diagogrous symptoms of Consumption, from which no adverse gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, and ID. Strome, of this city, where we have come for advice, recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless hick landness, as we do your skill, for the has recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong, as she used to be, but it free from the cough, and calls herest well.

Aver's Cathartic Pills.

Ayer's Cathartic Fills.

The science of Chemistry and Medicine have been laced their inhants to produce this hest, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these Pries have virtues which surpass in excellence the arinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to curs. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, parify the blood, and expel disease. They purpe out the fool humors which breed and grow distenger, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their anturnal action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they care the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have builted the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished does, the sefect and best physic that can be employed for children. Being angar teated, they are pleasant to take: and being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Ones have been made which surpass belief were they not salistantiated by men of such exactled position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untrett. Many content clergymen and physicians have bent their names to cothly to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others bare sent me the assumance of their consiction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my affiliced, suffering fellow-inct.

The Agent below menod is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing directions for their names and principal fellow-inct.

TESTIMONIALS.

During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. A. Eddy, Esq., of Boston did business at the Patent Utice, as Solicitor of pracenting Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ apersonmore competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and avorable consideration at the the Patent Office.

A REMEDY which CURES IN FIVE AMINUTES—M. LEROUN'S French Cholera Cognae Bitteres. This traily wonderful scientifle conepound is recommended by the most eminent and learned physicians of all Europe and America, and crijoys the best reputation of anything similar ever offered. It is without doubt, the best most efficient and generally acknowledged remedy against cholera, dysentery, diarrhead, and complaints of the stomach in general. The numerous patients who have tried it according to directions have invariably found relief in a very short time, and the best proof of it is, that since this standard remedy was introduced in the amittes of the soldiers from cholera and similar diseases was diminished by aver 75 per cent; in comsideration of which, the inventor was presented by the French and English governments with a gold medal, bearing the inscription, "Hail! M. Leroux, the great chemist and inventor, by whose knowledge our armites are preserved from chalter."

The Lightning Conductors on the plan of J. Spoatt, of Chemianti, appear to be very well devised, and in point of mechanical construction, are the hest I have ever seen.

It is to be haped that the use of these rods may become general as an important auxiliary defence against a danger which must be regarded as of no ordinary magnitude, to which all buildings are liable. B. S.LLJMAN, J.
